Does anyone remember Mike Dawson? He is the main man with the Pacific Crest trail. When he worked for the ATC, he was a fierce fighter helping us with land issues. Mike is the originator of the No-Net-Loss concept. When we use it today, we should remember Mike Dawson.

I'm sorry but we have lost information about those who want us to save paper and not mail a Blazer. Please tell us again!

We are looking forward to having author Leonard Adkins present Visual Histories of the AT at the Annual Potluck Business Meeting on March 4th.

Saturday, March 4, 6:00 PM at Christ Lutheran Church, Grandin & Brandon.

Bring a covered dish and be part of the tastiest potluck in town.

Hikemaster’s Report

Please go to http://peckmanjazz.com/HIKERATC.HTM, familiarize yourself with it and offer corrections and improvements. The purpose is to provide enough information for you to do, and even lead, a hike that is new to you. Please contribute to this effort. If a description is inaccurate, or could be improved, email me a correction. Measure driving and shuttle miles and correct them. Inform me of additional meeting places and measure miles from them.

Our first hike leader training was a good experience. Susan is planning to have more, each based on specific topics. But there will always be time to answer new questions as they arise and to explore situations and problems.

Another way to train yourself to be a leader is to assist. Every hike with more than a few people should have an assistant. You might sweep or just make sure that the signup sheet is legible. Leaders should list you as assisting in the hike reports so that you get credit in the banquet leader awards.

Bob Peckman
Hike Leader Training a Success!

On September 22, 22 members and 2 prospective members gathered at Backcountry Ski and Sport in Salem for a Hike Leader Training. Topics covered leadership, hike leader guidelines and requirements, Leave No Trace, gear essentials, emergency situations, basic first aid and safety, and sharing experiences. There was a good mix of current trip leaders and folks wanting to step into that role. Moving forward, we’d like to host two Hike Leader Trainings every year, one in the spring and one in the fall. Spring date TBD. If you have ideas for what you would like to see at these trainings, please email susan.e.powell07@gmail.com.

RATC members in attendance were: Cheryl Crowell, Jason Rannow, Bob Peckman, Kris Peckman, Brendle Wolfe, Carol Rowlett, John Hvozdovic, Jeff Edwards, Chris Means, Bruce Agnew, Jim Beeson, Caryl Connolly, Josiah Leonard, Dave Horst, Madeleine Taylor, Mary Harshfield, Butch Kelly, David Sutton, Kathryn Herndon, Carina Hughes, Stephen Niamke, and David Foster. RATC prospective members in attendance were Kim Dulaney and Kaia Flom.

Saltpond Rd to AT and back

Dave Sutton (leader) Linda Sutton, Sue Scanlin, and Chris Yates.

Some of the heat has left is so it was a good day for a late summer hike. We followed Salt Pond Rd for about 2.1 miles and where it intersected with the AT is where we took a short break and headed back north on the AT. The maintainer of this portion of the trail is doing a good job maintaining it. The overgrowth appears to have been removed or trimmed back quite well. We all kept together as a group pretty much and returned to our vehicle after about 3 and a half hours. Hope we can hike together again!

Audie Murphy Memorial

Chris Means (leader), Shaun Buck, Georgia Shaurette, Dee Case, Kathy Arrington, Karen Callahan

We didn’t get started until 10:00 so what was originally a cooler morning had begun to heat up as we started our ascent through the Brush Mountain East Wilderness area. A nice breeze visited us regularly and would’ve been welcomed all day. We passed several other groups of hikers, including one pair of brothers section hiking 40 miles from Daleville to the trailhead where we’d started out earlier, on Craig’s Creek Road.

Kathy and Karen having lunch

After a refreshing lunch at the overlook behind the memorial we started our descent to the parking area on Trout Creek to shuttle back to the drop vehicles. A very enjoyable hike with some awesome company.

Family Hiking Day

Unfortunately I have no written reports, but we had enough leaders to make a hike:
Fisherman's & Roanoke River Trails - Heidi Ketler
In September, a huge tree fell at Lambert's Meadow and crushed the picnic table. On October 2, a mostly Witcher crew, including Homer's 11, 8 and 6 year old grandsons, went up and built a new table. Nathan Peterson carried most of the lumber up the side of the mountain to get it close to the AT. From that point, the work crew carried the lumber about 1/2 mile on the Appalachian Trail to the campsite. We constructed the picnic table and ended the afternoon by having a weenie roast before heading home. The highlight was realizing that we are training a new generation of trail maintainers.

We continued to work on the Sinking Creek Mountain Relocation. The relo involves approximately 2000 feet, one switchback and 6 rock slides. The rock slides present a serious challenge to any trail builder considering the size of the rocks.
The October work trip picked up from where the September trip left off, moving some of the smaller rocks into and away from the future tread across the slide areas. The larger rocks will be left for the Konnarock Crew when they return next summer. For those of you interested, consider joining the ATC Konnarock Crew next summer for a week of trail building with volunteers from across the country. Check out AppalachianTrail.org, the ATC web site, for more information.

Hungry Mother State Park
Chris Means (leader), and Gloria from Spain

I ended up with only one other person on this hike besides myself, Gloria, but as usual it was a very rewarding hike! Gloria had only been in the US for a bit over two weeks, furthering her career. She’s taking some classes and will be in the area only briefly. Gloria seemed to be concerned that her English wasn’t too good, but we put that worry to rest as I quickly helped her realize how much better her English was, once compared to my Spanish! Gloria is an avid hiker in her home county of Spain and she was kind enough to give me some details of the things to “not miss” when I venture that way. This was her first hike in the US and it was a beautiful day for a walk in the park. Of her outdoor goals while visiting the US, getting on the AT ranks high and I’m hoping to be the one leading the day she makes her goal come true.

McAfee’s Knob Tail Rehab
Jeff Edwards, Dave Horst, Steve Marshall, John Miller, Jim Beeson, Kevin Hegg, & Jim Webb

A two day work session was required to replace a section of log cribbing on the trail to McAfee's Knob. The existing cribbing, installed only five years ago, was starting to rot. We started by drilling new holes into the rock below the existing bridge and installing 3/4" diameter steel pins. These will hold the new logs we cut from White Oak which is a more rot resistant wood. After cutting the new logs to fit and placing them against the steel pins, we removed the old rotting log cribbing. We finished the job by adding additional rocks and dirt to bring the cribbing up to trail level.

Rock Castle Gorge
Sandra Cothran and Linda Conner (co-leaders), Judy Kruse, Jim Beeson, William Conner, Dru Sexton, Karen Callahan, Bob Pierce, Henry

We could not have chosen a more perfect fall day for a hike: leaves beginning to change colors, clear blue sky, and temperatures quickly rising to the low 70s! Only 2 members of our group had never hiked this trail before, so the rest of us were able to offer those 2 the needed reassurance during the seemingly never-ending steep ascent at the beginning of the hike. Everyone was in agreement that we were wise in hiking this trail in a counter clock-wise direction rather than clock-wise, which would necessitate a knee-straining descent of this steep portion of the trail. Several of us had previously hiked this trail and seen the damage caused by last fall’s downpours, so we were duly impressed by the bridges that the Forest Service had constructed to repair the areas of washout. It was an enjoyable day spent with a cheerful and affable group of skilled hikers!

Audie Murphy Loop

Jeff Edwards (leader), Julie Petruska, Jennifer Frye, Jill & Randy Pennington, Ken Myers, David Horst.

Jeff and Julie carpooled from Pandapas pond parking lot on 460 in Blacksburg. David picked up the rest at Orange Market in Roanoke and drove to the hike end point on Miller Cove Rd. We left a vehicle there and drove back about 5 miles to the hike beginning on 621. Due to leaf cover on the trail we made an inauspicious 50-foot trek through the woods but then backtracked and got headed in the right direction. A lack of white blazes is always a good clue! After a steady climb with 1500 feet of elevation gain we made it up Brush Mountain to the Audie Murphy monument. We had some lunch and enjoyed the beautiful view from the overlook then started the steady descent to Miller Cove Rd. Everyone had a good time enjoying the warm weather and the beginning of fall leaves changing colors.

Harvey’s Knob to Mills Gap

Chris Means (leader), Georgia Shaurette, Wilma Vargas, Kim Dulaney, Julie Shumaker, Madeleine Taylor, Jennifer Frye, Kirsten & Rhett Herman, Chastity Graham, Laurie Spangler

We had 11 hikers and two trail dogs show up for this trip which was offered through both the RATC and ROAG Meet Up groups. There were some birders counting raptors when we arrived at Harvey’s Knob and the group was lucky enough to see a Bald Eagle before we began. It was a blustery hike with fairly cool temps most of the day. The group hiked from Harvey’s Knob to the Mills Gap Overlook and back for a total of 8+ miles, stopping for lunch in the picnic area of the Mills Gap Overlook. We of course were chasing the seasonal fall colors which sadly hadn’t really taken hold yet in the area. The info we’d obtained stated this would be the most advantageous weekend to view the changes, but it was not to be. A great hike with some old friends and the opportunity to make some new ones was the standard, as always. See you on the trail.

Hanging Rock - Craig County

David Horst and Jeff Edwards (leaders), Nancy Reid, Maya Bohler, Jeff Monroe with his four-legged sidekick, Lois Smith, Josiah Leonard, Jim Beeson - our resident through hiker, Chase Davidson, and Julie Petruska.

An awesome brisk day starting at a remote trail head with an amazing group of friends – what could be better. The hike through recently lopped trails led us to the top of Potts Mountain where we enjoyed amazing views north toward the Peaks along the 2 mile walk to the Hanging Rock trail head. A short ¾ miles later led to a remote north-facing outcropping overlooking Happy Valley. After lunch here, I left to avoid seeing Jeff Monroe standing out on the edge of the hanging rock to have his picture taken with a 20 mph wind ready to send him over the edge. But the post on Meetup verified that he actually did it. We took a different route down to make things interesting. And of course the next 1 ½ miles were totally off trail. I think Maya was a little concerned when she asked me if I knew where we were. But soon back on the trail where I split off to get my truck while Jeff Edwards led the group down to a different trail head, hiking along the beautiful Cove Branch along the way. We will be doing some more maintenance on some of this trail in the future to make this hike even more spectacular. Thanks to Jeff E for helping out on this one. And Josiah finally got to see Hanging Rock!

Trout Creek to Dragon’s Tooth

Chris Means (leader), Carol Rowlett, Maya Bohler, Andrew McDonald, Dan Chitwood, Gloria Perez, Madeleine Taylor, Susan Sanders, and David Jermann

On this hike we had 9 hikers and 2 trail dogs assembled from both the RATC and ROAG Meet Up Groups. The creator of the Roanoke Outdoor Adventure Group, Andrew, traveled back to town to go out on this event with us. It was an unusually warm day, and coming up from the Trout Creek side we didn’t see too much traffic. As a group we covered the 8 miles in about 7 hours including breaks and a good 45-minute squat at the Tooth. Carol did some rock scrambling while others took advantage and got in a quick siesta, hammock or not 😊 Another great hike with a nice bunch of people.

Garst Mill/Mud Lick Trash Dash!

Chris Means and Maya Bohler (leaders), George Delvin, Grant Holly, Fred Jourdan

Today’s trash dash had the pleasure of having two fellow VA Master Naturalists along (Maya Boyer and George Delvin) to help tidy up the Greenway section and some creek bank areas in Garst Mill Park. The weather was great temperature-wise and a nice breeze kept it cooler for us as we worked. The park had its usual evening crowd of 30 or so individuals enjoying the park, many also bringing along their four-legged friends. Together as a group we were able to gather and dispose of 7 bags of trash. debris in about 2 hours. It was a very enjoyable day with some good work getting done.

Wednesday, November 2, 2016

Terrapin Mountain

David Horst and Jeff Edwards (leaders), Theresa McDaniels, Gary Bible, Linda and Bill Conner, Ted Clay, Beverly Appel, Chase Davidson, Julie Petruska, Steve Bowles, and Dru Sexton

Another great day of weather led us out to Bedford County almost to Big Island. The hike warms up quickly as we climb for the first 3 miles over three false summits to reach the top. The trail is rocky and very steep reaching 30% grade in spots. The first summit gave us great views of the Blue Ridge to the west. The very top passes a rock that looks like a turtle's back, thus the name Terrapin Mt. The views here are wonderful and this is where we stopped to for a break and a snack. Heading down to Camping Gap, we picked up the Reeds Creek Trail. After a mile, I took most of the group on my customary off trail excursion for a couple of miles that allowed for more exposure to the cascading Reeds Creek. This also led to another unnamed trail that I will use on a future hike to make a loop with the AT over Thunder Hill. Back together at the intersection with Terrapin Mt Trail, we finished up our 10 mile strenuous journey. Very strong group and a lot of fun to hike with!

Saturday, November 5, 2016

Sinking Creek Mt. Relocation

Kathryn Herndon, Susan Powell, Chase Davidson, Julie Petruska, Jim Webb, Bruce Agnew and Conner, a walk-on.

We had seven volunteers including three of the overseers responsible for this section of trail. Kathryn, Jim and Susan worked on finishing a crib wall that will support a few steps on a steep section of trail while Chase, Julie, Bruce and Conner added steps to the upper end of the last rockslide. It was a productive day. The RATC Saturday Crew will pick up again after the holidays on March 4th. Mark your calendars. Joining a work crew even for a day is a great way to give back. Consider joining us on March 4th 2017.

Sunday, November 6
Flat Peter/Dixon Branch Loop

John Merkwan (leader)

No one came along. I did go myself and found the old trail so will schedule and try again at a future date.

Monday, Nov 7, 2016
Location: Dragon’s Tooth Trail

Bill Neilan, John Miller, Mike Vaughn, Tim Mancl, Jeff Edwards, Jill Pennington, Randy Pennington & Jim Webb

We met at the Orange Market and carpooled the 2.5 miles to the parking area on Timberview Rd. At 9 am we proceeded to the first trailhead off Horsepen which is the Trough, leading us up to the fire road on Brushy Mountain. The day was perfect – cool and breezy fall weather. It felt good to be out and to escape from the election blues that haunted most of us. There were still leaves left on the trees providing lovely fall colors but not obstructing the views of the surrounding ridges. We continued on Brushy Mountain Rd., climbing gradually up to the highest point of the Mountain and then dropping down to the intersection with Hemlock. From there the trail started to descend, sometimes gradually, sometimes steeply. Once on the Lakeside trail the terrain became hilly and the trail meandered up and down and around. Only after 4 hours of steady hiking were we rewarded with the first glimpse of Carvins Cove Lake through the trees. For about a mile we followed the shoreline, enjoying the view of the lake. The last 1-1/2 mile followed the Horsepen back to the parking area. We made it back to cars at 2:15 pm.

RATC TRAIL BLAZER - 10

Dragon's Tooth Loop Hike

Bob & Kris Peckman (leaders)

We put this on the schedule too late and went by ourselves. It was a good thing because when we got to climbing the big slabs near the tooth, Bob discovered that his hand was not yet ready for prime time and we turned back. It was a nice loop: We started at VA-624 at the AT crossing. We passed the yellow-blazed Boy Scout Trail and followed the AT to the saddle (Lost Spectacles Gap) and then half way to the tooth. On the way back we took the Blue Blaze from the saddle down to the Yellow Blaze Boy Scout Trail and followed that back up to the AT and the AT back to our car. From VA-624 to the saddle is a very pretty section and there is never a crowd!

Goshen Pass - Jump Rock

David Horst and Jeff Edwards (leaders), Madeleine Taylor, David ?, Jim Beeson, Beverly Appel, Tancrede, and Julie Petruska.

A couple of illnesses and a couple of people that refused to pay the DGIF a fee reduced our numbers to 8 really great hikers. This is going to be an annual event for me as I think the remoteness, the steepness, the variety of terrain and the views make this one of my favorite day hikes in Virginia. Again the weather did not disappoint as we had a cool, crisp, clear day. The swinging bridge still looks and feels suspect and the three person limit is probably wise and was heeded by our group. The steep multi-tiered climb after leaving the walk along the Maury River did not disappoint either. We did stop about 2 miles up for a break overlooking Goshen Pass. Then up again for another mile before dropping into the saddle for our climb once again up Jump Rock Mountain and amazing 270-degree views. A slight mishap coming down back into the saddle separated a couple of hikers for a short time. But in this area, a 10% loss of hikers is my expectation. The group said that I almost seemed disappointed that we were all together again for the views at Viewing Rock overlooking Lake Merriweather. The hike back down to the bridge is through a myriad of trails that I do not recommend anyone ever doing without someone that knows this area. This was a very strong group with a couple of new attendees, David and Tancrede who made this journey a lot of fun.

Trail North of Rte 606, Bland

Kevin Hegg, Fred Meyer, Bill Neilan, Jim Beeson, John Miller & Jim Webb

Erosion Before
It was very cold and windy as we met at the Orange Market with the temperature hovering around freezing. By the time we had finished the long drive to the Bland county worksite the temperature had risen to 40 degrees and a bright sun was shining.

A set of old steps leading from the road up a bluff and into the woods was badly in need of repair. Years of water running down the trail and over the steps had taken a toll on them as shown in the before picture. A little hard work with timbers and rebar transforms the trail into a new set of steps. There was even enough timber left over to put four steps in further north on the trail.

This hike was at Stone Mountain State Park in Traphill, NC. We had 12 hikers join this event with one driving from Lewisburg WV and two others from Richmond VA. We settled on the 8-mile option which covered 3 different trails in the park and gave us a good opportunity to walk off some of the holiday meal. The weather was great which in turn gave us the ability to enjoy some of the long distance views this particular park is known for. A good time was had and a great day for outdoor fun!!

This hike started out a bit wet but the weather eventually gave us a break. It was a little better than 3 miles uphill to the Channels Nature Area Preserve near Hayters Gap, VA. Its name comes from a group of sandstone boulders and eroded crevices located on a portion of the land. The preserve is part of the Channels State Forest on the border of Washington and Russell counties. We had 10 hikers at this event and by lunch break at the top near the fire tower the sun had come out in full force. A very beautiful day for an outdoors adventure.

Explore Park

Mary Harshfield and Maya Bohler (leaders), Caralee Eicher, Bekah Quirin with her young daughter, Dan Perry, Joanne Derryberry, Wilma Vargas, Brandon Comer

It was cool, but sunny, on this fall day—a great day for a hike. It was fun to meet some relative newcomers to the club, and everyone enjoyed having an 8-month old baby along. Although Mary and Maya had scouted out the route, too much time had elapsed (and things looked different with most of the leaves fallen from the trees) for them to remember all the turns. The group was forgiving, though, and we managed to find our way. We made an approximately 5-mile loop hike starting from the Visitor’s Center. We took parts of the Forester’s Trail, the yellow and black bike trail, the red and black bike trail, the River Walk, the brown trail through the historic area, and finally the Old Salem Turnpike Trail back to the Visitor’s Center. We had a nice leisurely break on the porch of the historic house. We made it back by about 12:30.

Hay Rock

Chris Means & Carol Rowlett (leaders), Wilma Vargas, Georgia Shaurette, Ted Clay, Kelly O'Rourke, Shawn Holland, Bill Frye, David Jermann, Nancy Wallace, Laurie Spangler, Kris & Bob Peckman, Ruth Blaskis, Ken Myers, Lori Booker, Jennifer Frye, Anne & Tim Pfeiffer, Joe Miller

This hike had the largest headcount for any hike I’d been on, a record for me to lead by far. A big thanks to Carol for the Assistant lead on this event, and also I’d like to welcome Kelly from Charlottesville who joined us on this one. Kelly is a member of the PATC and has shown some interest... in joining our local hiking groups and possibly leading some events.

Although overcast most of the day the views from the ridgeline above Carvin’s Cove were impressive as ever. To be such a large crowd, the group stayed relatively intact for most of the hike. All in all a great day to be out and an enjoyable mix of people to run around in the woods with!

Workhike VA-624 trail South
Bill Neilan, Kevin Hegg, Jim Beeson, Dave Horst & Jim Webb

It was cold and sunny, a perfect day for working on the trail. A section of the trail south of Newport road was showing its age and starting to sag down the hillside. An hour or two of digging by the five of us brought it up to standard again. We also needed to replace a rock step that had slipped out of place over the years.

House Mountain

We had hikers from all over for this one. Some new, some old....and a really great surprise was to see Ed Burgess hiking with us again after a long sabbatical. My very first RATC hike was with Ed when he was leading most of the weekday hikes. Many of us miss seeing him and hope he will join us again soon. Madeleine had oral surgery the day before and was a little loopy! Fortunately, Ed hiked with her the entire day and kept her from wandering off trail down to Devils Backbone brewery. We had wonderful weather and of course the views at the top of both mountains are spectacular. And Table Rock never ceases to amaze anyone seeing it for the first time. Ed and I both got on top for pictures. And all of the women got together at the outcropping at the top of Big House for a group picture – seemed like an estrogen fest and discrimination to me! (Is that politically incorrect?) This was one of the most fun groups that I have hiked with on a RATC hike - with lots of laughter! Great group!

South of the Foot Bridge
Both Clubs: Jeff Monroe (leader) & Kelly O'Rourke
RATC: Bob & Kris Peckman, Carol Rowlett, Jennifer Harvey Frye, Chris Aman, and Wilma Vargas
PATC: Marley McGrath, Patrick Cory, and Barbara Martin
Because weather forecasts predicted 55 mph winds at elevations above 2,000 feet and off and on rain, the group decided to travel at low elevations. The hikes included the old (pre-2000) A.T., the Cashaw Creek Trail, the current A.T. between Hercules Road and the Johns Hollow Shelter, and the Sheppe Pond Trail. Rains held off except during lunch, which most of the group consumed inside the Johns Hollow Shelter. Most of the group had never hiked several of the trails in the day's Figure 8 hike, and enjoyed seeing some new parts of the National Forest.

McAfee Knob Fire Road

Chris Aman, John Miller, Bill Neilan, Mike Vaughn, Kevin Hegg, Dave Horst & Jim Webb

The weather was cold and cloudy but with just a hint of a wind; it was a very comfortable workday. The day was spent on the fire road at McAfees cutting back the brush and small trees that encroach on the roadway. The Roanoke Fire and Rescue has a difficult time navigating the road in certain areas and widening the road in those areas makes for a faster and safer rescue.

Kenneth Grandstaff was visiting from Des Moines, IA in July and took this picture so we would know what kind of people were loitering in front of Pickle Branch Shelter. He also admired the nice roof!
Both hikers and leaders, please consult the hike descriptions at http://peckmanjazz.com/HIKERATC.HTM. Tell me how to make the descriptions better. Try to use the name and description when posting a hike on Meetup, or maybe we should change it.

The Roanoke Appalachian Trail Club consistently tries to provide a wide range of hiking opportunities for people of all ages, interests and abilities. Guests are always welcome to join us. Make requests if we don't fill your needs.

Hikes are rated by length and terrain so hikers can evaluate them based on their individual strengths. Easy terrain – Greenways or old roads
Moderate terrain – Typical AT
Strenuous terrain – long climbs and rough trails
Challenging – neglected trails and bushwhacking

Shuttle lengths are included to calculate carpool fees. Carpooling is encouraged to save gasoline and because trailhead parking may be limited. The hike leader is responsible for arranging the carpool. While there is no fee to hike with the club, the carpool fee is for the driver.

If you are new to hiking or unfamiliar with the hike, contact the leader who will be glad to help you evaluate whether the hike is appropriate for you and also if you are properly equipped. Hike leaders should recommend that you don’t come if you are not prepared with equipment or condition.

The club is always looking for experienced hikers to help lead club hikes. Uncle Bob Needs You! RATC needs you! Get on Meetup and lead a hike or contact the leader on a hike and offer to assist. Come out for the next hike-leader training. Contact Bob Peckman at hikemaster@ratc.org. For Blazer matters blazer@ratc.org
